Comments Fantastic ....it's so easy and I am a novice at use of photos on the computer. I don't know how you can get such accurate picture descriptions! Love it. This helps me as I can keep my friend's parents up to date on my family! You have a great idea here!The challenge of evaluating the training needs of medical students. Traditionally, educational evaluation has been seen as a process of comparing a level of knowledge or skill acquired by a trainee before and after training. These two levels are compared using some form of measurement, such as a test. In recent years, an approach has been proposed which questions the assumption that education of trainees should be guided by comparing levels of prior and post-training knowledge or skills. This challenge, the challenge of evaluation, focuses on the appropriate educational design for the individual, for the task being learnt, for the context in which the task is learned, and the relationship between learning and performance. This article describes the various approaches to designing an evaluation programme to meet these needs and provides an example from a recent evaluation project involving medical students in the preparation for specialist postgraduate training.Q: How to setup google calendar events for iphone I am trying to setup the google calendar. My iphone (iOS 5.0.1) allows me to send text messages. But I would like to include a Google calendar event in the message. If I send a message that includes a calendar event, it appears on the Google calendar automatically. How can I replicate this on my
