"Roma were a classic underdog story," said Kiet Nguyen, SVP of Product Development and Design at EA SPORTS. "We're focused on bringing the same feel and excitement fans expect from the UEFA Champions League to the pitch in FIFA, so we asked ourselves: How could we achieve such a storyline with UEFA data? We identified that there were several types of techniques that FIFA could take, and ultimately we decided to use some of the real-life data EA SPORTS collected from the 22 players who finished the match. We were able to use a combination of technology, data and player performance that was more dynamic and authentic than what players were able to achieve with camera rigs, and we think it's the best implementation to date." The result is FIFA 22, which rewards players who do the most with the potential to unlock players and teams from across the globe. "We're known for our realism, and this technology gives our players and coaches the ability to showcase their skills in ways they've never done in the past," said Jeff Yajko, Lead Gameplay Designer. "As players, we all know how intense and physically demanding it can be to be a player in the Champions League. We think this technology will give players the most authentic possible FIFA experience on next-gen consoles." HyperMotion Technology was unveiled at the UEFA Champions League Final in Cardiff, where Kylian Mbappé scored a hat-trick for Paris St Germain, lifting the trophy into the hands of his teammates. The data FIFA 22 pulls from the UEFA Champions League competitions is based on the 2014-2015, 2015-2016, 2016-2017 and 2017-2018 competitions. Players can aim for the Moon, Discover Hidden Talent, Hunt The Ball, and even Unlock New Players and Create Epic Memories As you progress throughout the season, players develop, discovering new strengths and creating unforgettable moments. Every player has a unique talent that helps them shine even more than before, but it's the match-winning skills that lead to scoring goals, set pieces, crosses, headers, and aerial duels. Creating Epic Moments Battle for the Ball Whether in the air, on the ground or in a tricky position on the pitch, players face all types of challenges to get the ball in a meaningful attacking or defensive position. The ball can be taken by defenders.

What's new in Fifa 22:

- Increased TrueSkill Club Matchmaking. The most popular Ultimate Team gameplay adjustments in previous games have been to improve Pro Clubs Chemistry and Squad Composition. This year, Club Matchmaking will use Player attributes like Shooting Speed to match you to teams that play a similar style of football.
- Increased Chemistry and Squad Composition. The overarching goal in this year's updates is to create a more authentic gameplay experience, which is reflected throughout the game. Chemistry between players has always been a huge component of Ultimate Team, so we've increased the importance of Player Specialistic Attributes like movement, pace and passing accuracy.
- New Team Management Scenes. Within Game Management, Ultimate Team features are now split into scenes reflecting the different phases of a career. Manager scenes are played out as a training montage (3v3, 2v2, 1v1, etc...) and Pro scenes are played as a timed match. Below the scenes, you'll also be able to manage the weight of your squad.
- Now easier to get ahead. In Ultimate Team, you'll now be able to charge players with specific attributes too. You can now make a prospect or academy player into an instant PintPacer.
- Personalised Training Routines. Now you can customise your training activities to help you get to the next level.
- Improved Career Mode. This year we've made improvements to Career Mode, so you can create a custom player, and create a combo of attributes to make your real-life Pro more powerful online.
- FIFA Motion. This is our first crack at real-time, motion-capture simulation with FIFA and we're proud to introduce FIFA Motion Technology, which uses live data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power gameplay.
- Real-time Goalkeeping Control. You can now make passes and smother shots in Training.
- New teammates.
