Publihed studies show that among patients with a recent-onset STEMI who have undergone primary PCI, patients with early revascularization (≤ 6 hours) have significantly better outcomes than those with delayed revascularization (>6 hours) in terms of all-cause mortality and major adverse cardiac events (MACE). However, whether a time gap of 6 hours or longer before PCI should prompt revascularization is unclear. Statins are a class of drugs that prevent cardiovascular events by reducing low-density lipoprotein cholesterol (LDL-C) and by elevating high-density lipoprotein cholesterol (HDL-C). Recent studies indicate that the HDL-C levels are associated with an increased risk of cardiovascular events and all-cause mortality. A relevant question is: To what extent can statins reduce the risk of cardiovascular
