Netviewer-Swann V1.2.7.233-ENU. When I run multiple copies of the.exe files, it opens, then closes them, and so on. It's not that I see a lot of RAM (usually about 1 GB). This is after I reboot into Windows, and tell it not to save/load RAM, but to use the full available RAM. Windows automatically restarts. If I clear out my RAM by pressing 'yes' (to confirm), then reopen the program, the RAM takes up the whole 1 GB again and windows just hangs (not responding) until I stop the program. I'm not too familiar with the process of eliminating RAM corruption. How could I do that (use a tool like MemTester or something)? What is causing this error and how should I proceed? Thanks for any help you can give me. A: RAM gets corrupted when you start to run out of RAM. If you have issues with programs (other than your network card) hanging up, then your RAM is failing. A solution would be to find a good SSD or HDD that won't corrupt the first time you write to it. There are cheap solid state drives that will have a 1-in-10 failure chance during normal operation. It's also recommended that you keep your hardware functioning properly as SSDs can fail without warning. That being said, a 1 GB heap is plenty for most programs. If you want to make sure that your RAM is working as intended, you can download MemTester and run it on your machine. You can also check out the following wiki for troubleshooting RAM problems:
