
GTA: SAN ANDREAS 100% SAVEGAME FILE Pc Game EXCLUSIVE

The same as above. In my PS2 Save, I had the EC Turismo and the EC Bullet from the Mission Olympic Games. But in this Mobile Save, I have the same cars and the same color scheme as the EC Turismo and the EC Bullet. However, there is no EC Turismo. I have no idea why there is no EC Turismo anymore. I have no idea why the EC Turismo is white instead of the usual red, but it's there in my save. The same as above. In my PS2 Save, I had the FP/EC/EP/EC Cheetah and the FP/EP/EC Comet. But in this Mobile Save, I have the same cars and the same color scheme as the FP/EP/EC Cheetah and the FP/EC Comet. However, there is no EP Comet. I have no idea why there is no EP Comet anymore. Every savefile includes a version tag, which is an 8-byte value. When creating the savefiles, the version tag is stored at the beginning of the savefile. This version tag is unique to the file and should always be stored in the same format as is used for internal GTA saves. IPL is a list of links referencing enexes, generally describing the network interactions between multiple savefiles. Every enex is specified with a unique ipl_id (0-based) as well as a flag(or type). The 'xcoord' value varies linearly in the range [0,20] from right to left (and correspondingly from 'ycoord' to 'ycoord+20') and the 'ycoord' value varies linearly in the range [0,10] from above to below (and correspondingly from 'xcoord' to 'xcoord+20'). There are two orientation variables 'objstime' and 'objorient', where 'objstime' is the time (in seconds) at which the USJ is triggered, and 'objorient' is the relative orientation of the cube to the USJ (viewed from the USJ, the cube's top (rightmost) surface is at position 'objorient/4' along the x-axis, and its leftmost surface is at position 'objorient/4' along the y-axis). The 'objstime' value can be either the time at which the USJ is triggered or a double value calculated from that value.

this section contains a list of the local variables used by the script. local variables are those that are created in a specific script. if local variables are not defined in a script, they are set to null. although the local variable names do not need to match the block names, it is recommended that they do. this block is intended to be used for debugging purposes to see the values of the variables at any time. one can also use it to debug saves from other mods. this section contains the custom mod slots. if the mod was loaded with the mod_load and mod_save commands, then the save_id string for the mod can be used to define the mod name. if no save_id string is provided for a mod, then it is assumed that it is not to be saved. mod slots are numbered 0-7. slot 0 is reserved for the title text. slot 1 is reserved for mission text. slot 2 is reserved for the bank menu, if a bank menu has been defined for the mission. if no bank menu has been defined for the mission, slot 2 is set to null. slot 3 is reserved for callouts. if callouts have been defined for the mission, slot 3 is set to the callout number. callouts are numbered from 0 to 9999. slot 4 is reserved for the community, if one is defined for the mission. slot 5 is reserved for the scripted mission. if one has been defined for the mission, slot 5 is set to the mission name. the scripted mission is numbered 0-9999. slot 6 is reserved for the police, if one is defined for the mission. slot 7 is reserved for the player. but this mobile save has less missions and more total playing time, including the stunts. it also has a lot of new vehicles such as the uc sonic, uc snowman, the uc tricoper, and the uc/ap/bp/ep/mp trolley.
